

The Great deception

A Deception?

Are there things, thoughts, habits that deceive us?

In this study we will see a little more closely what is happening everyday around us and ask are we being manipulated without our knowledge? Too many people are ignorant of all these things, and the result is that a large majority of people are living in stress and unnecessary oppression.

I have long hesitated before writing on this subject and now in reading it some will qualify me perhaps as an extremist or perhaps fanatical and this is why we will try to deal with this delicate subject with balance, without eliciting us in unnecessary statements and actions.

Ignorance is a path that encourages errors, but the truth will give me some insurance; stability and balance that I need to prevent me from being used "repeatedly" as a pawn.

Yes there is a great deception!

And it is so huge that unfortunately few people are aware of it, especially for those who are not born again, because they have no knowledge of all the truth of the spiritual world. Too often I've heard or seen Christians acting without being aware that they were victims of a deception. And it is also too often (to my opinion), that I was myself victim of this deception, simply because I didn't pay enough attention.

The only way to prevent is to grow in the knowledge of things, to know what happens to have a clear vision. And it is there that the balance is extremely important. Because without a good balance in my thoughts, my actions and in my words, they will push me to an extremism and fanaticism, which are two things all equally harmful as the lack of knowledge.

If you are not born again be aware that you are manipulated. There is a great deception all around you.

What is at stake?

You, precisely.

We will draw on the truth that the Bible teaches, and see by using different verses (passages), that our daily life is largely influenced by all sorts of things to push us in a specific direction. We can have the impression of being master of all our choices, but often it is not the case. This is only a false impression. Let's look at this first passage of the Bible.

1 Corinthians 2:15 But he who is spiritual judges all things, yet he himself is rightly judged by no one.

Here is the same passage in another translation of the Bible:

1 Corinthians 2: 15 (amp) But the spiritual man [the spiritually mature Christian] judges all things [questions, examines and applies what the Holy Spirit reveals], yet is himself judged by no one [the unbeliever cannot judge and understand the believer's spiritual nature].

Very few people use their spirit and the new birth is used precisely, to use our spirit. The system of human thought is so complex that no one can state how it works in detail. Most of the time a crucial parameter is omitted, the spiritual, which means the actions and operation of the spirit of human beings is often mixed with the mind, yet they are two distinct entities.

Then what is it to be spiritual?

I become spiritual when I understand that there are two entities in me. This has nothing to do with a split personality of course, but acknowledging that there are actually two entities in me. We might commonly call them personality and consciousness. Both are part of my person, and it is as if one were a little deeper within me than the other. Most often the conscience is choked, and muffled, by the personality, but they are always in connection with one and other.

This is the idea of consciousness that we often need to find out what it is within ourselves that makes us what we are.

So it is a fact, if I use my spirit (my conscience), I'll be able to judge all have good vision of things, make the right decision. Who has never dreamt about that?

Have you dreamed about it? I think that most of us have wished for that accomplishment.

Then you will tell me: “too easy, from now on I'll use my conscience only, and everything will be fine, and I will always have a positive way of thinking ». Well no! This cannot not work that way.

Why?

Simply because my mind is linked with my conscience, in other words, my soul is linked with my spirit, and it is as if my soul it stifled in its actions.

We should therefore be able to separate them, and the work should be done... Yes, actually they should be almost done. I say “almost done” because there is still a problem. Even if I could separate my spirit from my soul so that he could not be 'influenced' by my mind, my spirit still has needs to be regenerated. Without this process, any attempt will result in failure. Having good judgment, good speech, good thinking is a dream of many. Potentially no more regrets, no more errors.

Here is another passage that teaches us about the solution.

Hebrews 4: 12. For the word of God is living and powerful, and sharper than any two-edged sword, piercing even to the division of soul and spirit, and of joints and marrow, and is a discerner of the thoughts and intents of the heart.

The word of God, are these words that God pronounced, especially in certain passages of the bible, but also in the spirit of those who have gone through the new birth. These words are the only one's effective, to separate my spirit from my intelligence (my soul). It is the only solution, there is no other one.

And it is here that begins the great deception. If you have trouble believing what you just read, you are a victim of this great deception.

Why?

Because what you just read is the truth, it is a verifiable fact we will talk about it in a moment.

Today most of the time, in the vast majority of countries, everything is done to prevent me from realizing that the spiritual is the source of happiness. Certainly there are many clairvoyant, astrologers, various sects, which will offer a better life by the spiritual. But all this is just a deception. This is coming from the spiritual world of course, but managed by beings that have only a single purpose.

Which one?

Our loss.

One day a member of my family who was not yet born again told me on this subject: "I believe those who predict me my future. A clairvoyant predicts me a divorce, and I ended up divorcing. Another has predicted a serious heart disease, and I finally have it. All what I was told came to pass".

And given this sad fact, he claimed that this was real. Of course it is real, but he did not see that he was merely a pawn. And because some had announced him various sufferings to come, he accepted them as his fate.

Just as the good and the bad are all around each one of us in our everyday lives, each one has regularly the opportunity to realize good things, or bad things. Good and evil have their source in this invisible world that is the spiritual world.

The largest facet of this huge deception, is exactly to make us believe by different ways that this spiritual world does not exist.

Whether you believe it, or you don't believe it, it does not change this fact. The spiritual realm exists. At this stage, it is possible that some will say: "I have read enough, yet another tale as old as the world that does not exist".

If you stop now, you'll never know the real truth. Remember earlier when we say that all this is very easily verifiable. And I add now than anyone knows this truth will see all of the negative of his life change to new days, to a never-ending happiness.

What is behind these few pages that we will discover together goes well beyond all your expectations of joy, of peace, of freedom, love, patience, kindness, loyalty, of virtue.

In this spiritual world is The One that created you, God, He is love in all its essence (for more details on this topic see my study named "The Character of God").

When God created us, a spiritual being has been jealous to the point of hating us in a level beyond our intellectual understanding, He was called Lucifer. Today he has become the tempter, the one who constantly push humans towards suffering, hatred, and death, He is a slanderer, that's what means his name, the devil. As we said above, his greatest deception is to make us believe that he doesn't exist, and unfortunately many believe it, but the fact to believe it or not, does not change the reality.

Be no more fooled, nor duped yourself by such ideas. All this is real and active on our Earth. Indeed, it is easy to notice it when you look closely all around us. Lots of things are established in order to push us in one direction or another. Many things are skillfully developed in an attempt to make us think this or that way. Forms are different, but the goal remains the same: make sure to not discover and understand what Jesus Christ came on Earth to do a little more than two thousand years ago, we will see this point more in detail in the same time and how easy it is to check everything that the Bible announces a little later.

I remain very attentive in my everyday life to avoid entering into extreme, harmful or an unnecessary imbalance that would bring trouble.

To do this, often when I'm in a public place, I try to observe the people. When I get the chance I'm talking with them, I listen to discussions. And it is in these moments that I have understood for many years that everyone is pursuing something. All will make efforts at various levels to achieve a goal.

The applications are very varied.

- Some will study, accumulate the most of knowledge possible.
- Others engaged in the assistance of their neighbors.
- Alternatively, are in the cult of the body, the physical well-being.
- Travel, the discovery of the world.
- A family United, in which they will find love.
- Put his identity in the work.
- Go against any injustice.
- A religion.
- Have the most possible leisure to enjoy life.
- Try to always be superior to others, crush them.
- Collectors.
- The dishonest, misleading others.
- Those who have never enough.
- Perfectionists.
- The lovers of nature.
- Defenders of animals...

The list could still easily be dozens of additional pages. I think that everyone, with a bit of objectivity can find what his goal is and, his pursuits.

The most appealing method used, is advertising. Because, if we don't take care, it becomes an unnecessary priority. It will create in us needs that are not necessary and these needs once rooted in our thoughts will direct our focus more or less in a long time depending people and on something else other than spiritual lack, or on spiritual matters. All this is a very long-term work. Of course advertising isolated in time is totally harmless, but it is its time value that gives it power, whenever I will see it, read it, or hear it. And all this in the long term will change my thoughts.

Look around you, it is everywhere, signs, mails, emails, telephone calls, the texting, etc... Most of the time an advertisement is here to add a profit to the one who publishes it, but beyond the benefit is a manipulation orchestrated by evil spiritual beings. Everything is done to keep our thoughts focused on the material to give us a better life expectancy here on this earth. For us to believe that the essential is on this earth. But this is totally wrong, because every human being will not see his life to stop on his physical death. Life goes on in the infinite, and this, for everyone.

After our physical death, good and evil separate, Jesus Christ came on Earth precisely to make this eternal access available where evil no longer exist. He is the one and He only is able to offer this, because He is the only one who came back from the beyond during forty days on Earth, by establishing a relationship with His Apostles, then to be returned to God. No one else was able to do this.

And as time passed yet another phenomenon of deception, emerged: the "human idols".

Then satan said to himself: why not to idealize some humans so that the vast majority can follow them. Thence emerged so-called "stars". Singers, actors, sportive, etc... I'm not saying that every "star" is the product of the devil, but the concept of Idol comes from satan. Today how many people identify themselves with stars and miss their own destiny. They speak like them, sometimes dress like them, they live in a dream, apart from reality. In more or less pronounced extremes, this State is designed to focus them on a person, and especially prevent them from thinking about their eternity as a human being. They live on the personality of another person, and therefore cannot build their own lives. Their own person is heavily shadowed, and it is the goal of idolatry, not take care of ourselves, of our true person in identifying ourselves in another one.

Are all those who have a great reputation harmful to their fellow?

Not at all.

But one thing is sure, it is that a deception is there, in the fact to one identify with another. Some “stars” are well aware of it and go on about this fact, just by simple pride. Others have engaged themselves in a contract with satan, by exchanging their worldwide reputation with a fidelity to demonic spirits. It is a deception also for those who have entered into this agreement with demonic spirits, because once entered their fame, they will have considerable difficulty getting out of it. Simply because pride is flattered, but it is not something impossible to deal with.

You see the devil and his demons have only one power, the one to suggest false thoughts in the of human thought system. That is why satan and his demons are able to give notoriety to launch a fashion, to ensure that this or that idea became popular in the majority of the thoughts of people on the Earth. The new birth is the only way to expose this kind of thoughts, because the vast majority of people are not aware that they are handled in their everyday lives by these satanic lies.

Those who feel the need to look at any cost by various means are just victims of this deception. How many people are trying to exist through something? In the professional field for example. Often all ideas of our society on this issue lead us to take care of “our career”.

Is this really the purpose of a life?

No, I do not think so.

Everything is distorted when we base on an existence which stops at our physical death on this earth. At this point, everything becomes unbalanced. We say: “I have only seventy or ninety years at most to live, so I don't have to waste time. I want to succeed in what the society offers, I do not want to waste my time”. So in this case, everything is wagered on the job that I do, regardless of the eternity that awaits us. There is a balance in all things. I do not say that study to get a good job is a bad thing, nor even to commit to perform his work in a good way is one also. But I must simply realize that my job is here to serve me, to make me live on the material side and not for that I'll slave of it, and that it absorbs my whole existence. This is a trap organized to make me miss the essential, namely, a new life in what Jesus Christ gave me.

Of course, if our life was only about our passage on Earth, we should build and invest in each of our days, but it is just the opposite, our passage on Earth is only there to determine our eternity: either there where the property will no longer exist, or where evil will no longer exist. And most of people act as if it was exactly the opposite.

What a mistake!

All our society today is based on this fact. Enjoy the maximum of our days here because sooner or later we will all die; but things do not stop there.

Often, I have the impression that people only look for to filling the time, by some means or another, very often for the goals that we have listed above. They are not aware of it of course, but through this, they are looking for perfect happiness, and well-being which very few manage to reach, and for those who think they have reached it, it is only a fleeting moment that will stop suddenly at their physical death.

If we had to summarize this great deception, I would say that it lies in the fact that it makes us think in the short term. It makes us believe that it is only here that we build and invest, while it is on a much longer term, that of eternity by various means. If we compare an eternity with ninety years on Earth on average, it is obvious that it would be stupid not to look after this period that will last forever, in which I will enter just after my physical death. Have you already taken the time to stop to ask yourself a few questions?

Why am I here?

In which area of my life did I invested so far?

Am I influenced by the society which I live in?

Am I working towards establishing my eternity?

Understand this, all of these examples that lead us away from the truth that we have mentioned will be harmful, only if they are obstructing the real questions that I have to ask myself, as the ones above. If everything was black or white, things would be easier, but this is not the case. Broadly, everyone knows what is good or evil, but there are cases, which, according to the manner in which they are lived, can be like from a harmless to very harmful for us.

Don't get me wrong, I am not saying that we must live in a monastic life. Remember what the Apostle Paul says: "everything is allowed, of course, but everything is not useful, and I let me enslave by nothing." The great deception lies in the fact not to realize that our thoughts do not go in the right direction, that we not ask us the right questions. And there, all means are good to focus on various topics.

Am I saying that those several subjects are bad

No.

But it is the space that we give them in our thoughts that will make them harmful.

If when I see an advertisement I end up buying something that I did not need, because I constantly need to possess what attracts me, I'd never be satisfied. It's like a bottomless pit that we would try to fill.

Does it say that advertising is not good?

No, not at all.

If I use only advertising to inform me about the opportunities offered to me there's nothing harmful in it.

If I am so invested in my work that I do no more have a family life, and that I have no more time for nothing, my work has become harmful to my life, even if I feel to be important and to grow professionally. I miss on that which is essential because I wouldn't be able to stop to think and ask the right questions about my life. Is the work a harmful thing for this?

No, not at all.

It is what I did with it that has become harmful. The work is a very good thing, because it allows me to live and put my physical or mental abilities at the service of the society.

If I have a need to always raise money, because it gives me importance or because I want to just buy anything when I want, because I have a huge fear of what could happen to me, I would never be at peace. I would constantly have a feeling of "not having enough", and I would not be able to ask myself the right questions, because having more money will have occupied all my thoughts.

Does it mean that money is a bad thing?

Absolutely not.

The money itself is a very good thing. This is how I will use it which will determine if it is harmful or not. It's me, by choosing the use I will make with it, which will make it good and powerful, or bad and powerful.

I also sadly found this to be the case on several occasions. If as a pastor of a Church I am more concerned about the number of people who come every Sunday, because my church will become important in the view of the people; If I want that those who enter it will be impressed because everything is beautiful and perfectly organized; If this church which I am the head becomes my identity; If it made me who I am... I totally missed the goal, I get sidelined. And because of this church, I'd be so busy making sure I develop my image through it that it will be the best possible, that I would not hear what the Holy Spirit tells me. My work as pastor would not be very efficient.

Can we say that a church of born again people is a bad thing?

Obviously not.

Once again this is what I'll do, how I'm going to approach it, which will make that a church will become harmful to me or not.

This example shows that the great deception is even in Christian circles.

And then there are those who allow themselves to be flopping around by the circumstances of their lives, for various reasons. Some are shy, and as such, are only focused on themselves even to an extreme negative which reduces them constantly. This may seem hard to say but it is a reality. Being shy is only the result of being too self-centered. Shyness is the opposite of pride, however it is as harmful as to be filled with pride.

There are some percussion sticks that are strictly identical from one end to the other. Often we used them from one end or the other, and this changes absolutely nothing to sound or touch, because the two ends are strictly identical. Well it is exactly the same thing when one focuses on oneself, often we think that pride is the one of the only reasons and factors in self-centeredness.

This is entirely untrue.

Pride is not a unique feeling that makes us focus on ourselves by being superior and dominating.

A very limited vision is a part of the factor in being self-centered.

Just like a percussion stick, being self-centered goes in both directions.

These two ways, yet are totally opposed one to the other, exactly as these two reactions, pride or shyness. The same in being self-centered, this common denominator gives two opposite effects, but each one as harmful as the other. If those who are timid thought less of what other people think about them, or even stopped to do what only their own thoughts are say, they would be much more enterprising, much more spontaneous, and feel much better in their being. I chose to do this parenthesis because I hear too often of bad reactions in adults who are not sure of themselves and have hang ups in many things for nothing. There is a tendency, because they are weak in this area to persuading them with sweet words that go in the direction of their problems, and this makes that consolidate in their thoughts of shyness. Is shyness a fate simply because it looks sweet, nice, and helpless. Yet it is all the opposite, shyness, even though it may seem sweet and nice, is just the result of being too focused on themselves. It is just as harmful and destructive than pride.

Am I saying that we should treat those who are in this case with severity without flexibility on them, just as you would do with a person who would show some signs of pride in the other extreme, by shaking him, by speaking to him harshly?

No not at all.

In these two extremes, the one that decreases himself as the one who rises himself, the manifestation of love and interest for each other is the only constructive attitude. We have too often tend to treat one extreme, pride with force and vehemence, and the other extreme shyness with softness and laxity. Yet both are treated, and must be treated in the same way, with patience, firmness and love for the other, because they are equally harmful as one another.

It is very easy to find some teachings that warn against pride in the bible. And it has too often in my opinion left aside shyness, because we talk less about it. You see balance is the base, be in the middle of the stick which we talked about earlier. Too much on one side will be as bad as too much on the other side. When one played percussion he should happen to hold his stick in perfect balance, not too much weight at the front nor too much weight to the back. In one case the stick will bounce back too much and in the other case it will not rebound enough and the sound will be not good.

2 Timothy 1: 7 (AMP) For God did not give us a spirit of timidity or cowardice or fear, but [He has given us a spirit] of power and of love and of sound judgment and personal discipline [abilities that result in a calm, well-balanced mind and self-control].

Shyness is something against which one must fight with as much force and fervor than anything else negative in our lives.

This is part of the great deception that satan has developed on Earth among humans, get the shyness to a harmless thing.

The vast majority of people, and including Christians often make the same mistake, they think that all is good or everything is evil. They develop like a list in their conception of life with some: "This is a good thing", and, "this is a bad thing". These are ideas that the bible does not teach at all. Even if there are thoughts which are good or bad, everything is not so. Yet most Christians and non-Christians think that the kind of life that God offers us in Jesus Christ is only about bonds and interdictions. Let's look at what the Apostle Paul says about it. He was facing some Christians who told him: "so Paul, you tell us that we are forgiven all our sins through Jesus Christ, in advance then finally everything is permitted, we can let us go to all sorts of things".

And here is what Paul replied:

1 Corinthians 6: 12 (AMP) Everything is permissible for me, but not all things are beneficial. Everything is permissible for me, but I will not be enslaved by anything [and brought under its power, allowing it to control me].

This is here the perfect balance. Of course that there is no need to think long to understand that certain things are harmful for me. Rob, be nasty, or even kill, will have a very negative impact on my life. I may end up in prison, lose friends, making others unhappy, etc...

But then why Paul answers this?

For a majority of things, everything is in the way to do or to say, with what kind of thoughts I'll say or do. And the vast majority of Christian teachings today will tell you: "You should do this or that, or not do this or that". But things go much more beyond that. I think that's one of the reasons why most people are not interested in what Jesus Christ proposes in His teachings, because many fall into a great deception which lead them to think:

- All of this does not exist, or
- I will not be able to do what I like anymore, or
- I don't want to become "old style", or
- I don't want to have prohibitions in my life...

And the list could be even longer than that. But all these reasons are just the result of a deception that does not show the reality of the life with Jesus Christ.

Let's take a few examples:

For thousands of years people use staging to make messages. In the theatre, in the songs, and then a little later in movies and commercials. In all these things there is of very good and very bad. This is for instance, why Paul said "Everything is permissible for me, but not all things are beneficial". In most of the things that we look, there is good and bad, and it is up to us to make the choice to see such or such film, listen to this or that song, or read as such or such book, etc...

Does it say that the cinema, books, are not good, or that we do not have to listen to music?

Not at all.

But in all things, there are consequences more or less large, more or less powerful. And for example, the deception here is to make you believe that:

- Watch the violence will not change you.
- Watch pornography will not affect on your being.
- Read or listen to lies, won't make you a liar.

Of course this is not the message of a film or of a song that will change you in once. But all these times, one after the other, gently, but in a sure way, will change your way of thinking, and therefore your way of doing.

For several decades now, appeared the subliminal messages. It is in the fifty's that the first messages have emerged. Technology evolves, today these types of message are found practically everywhere where it is possible to insert them: in the films at the cinema, on television, in the songs. In everything who is filmed or recorded, there is the possibility of inserting a subliminal message.

How does it works?

This process is for a video whatsoever to insert images that we are not really going to see. A video is just a succession of filmed images running before our eyes. On the average for a movie, advertising, or any other video, twenty-four pictures are running every seconds before our eyes. Simply delete one of these twenty-four images, and replace it with another image of his choice. When I see this video, I will see nothing wrong, but my brain, will save this “pop-up image” without me to noticing it.

From that moment anything is possible, (and everything has already been used anyway?). There are a bunch of movies today that use this method to insert all sorts of ideas, in order to direct the spectator reactions. They heighten anxiety in horror movies for example by inserting at strategic times within the images even more atrocious than those already contained in the film, this so, that spectators can live real fears and they get value for their money somehow.

Several ideas are inserted in various films. I have seen in various movies, very famous cartoons for children of surreptitiously inserted pornographic images. Those who practice such things are themselves manipulated into this great deception to build our future society with the most possible pornographic practices. This will result to have people in a society who have ideas and influences as far as possible from biblical thoughts.

This system is also widely used to sell any product. In an advertising spot it happens that images with phrases on the screen are inserted, as for example: "Drink this drink" or "vote for such or such". The recipe is still the same and the vast majority of people, including born again Christians leave themselves to fall in this trap. As this kind of system is evolving and bring devastation on the long term, it looks in most of cases as harmless.

But it is nothing of the sort.

You have now understood, there is no limits with this system, everything is now possible in term of messages diffusion without people being aware of it. The manipulation is now unrestricted. No one today is depriving themselves of this system. Some practices are more or less offensive. If I'm persuaded to buy this or that soap it is not a big issue for my everyday life, only maybe the fact that I have been cheated on the quality of the product, however when this will prevent me from accessing an eternal life with God in a place where evil no longer exists, this becomes much more serious. A huge amount of demonic messages are outstanding in all kinds of films, sports advertising, programming and television series that we look at. These messages are intended to put away all those who look at them a spiritual reflection centered towards the Bible. Messages like: God does not exist, the bible is false, the real life is in the debauchery, prevents the others from moving forward, etc.

Video clips of a majority of artists are not left in this subliminal system. Some, worldwide-known use it to sell more CDs or downloads. But others, who have adopted satan in their lives, insert anti biblical ideas. It is very easy to have the evidence of it by using an internet search engine. I'm the first to say that there is not only the truth on the internet, there are certainly many fabrications on this subject but you will also find true and relevant examples that will make you think about it.

The same thing is also in audio recordings. And there is a much wider audience that is affected. It is often when I'm in a bus, plane, or taxi boat that I realize it. We have all made this statement, almost half of the people have headphones on the ears. Twenty years ago, young people were just affected about it, but today it is all ages. All are listening to something. So it's here, the most effective way to convey an audio message. More often in music, it's any kind of messages that if we are not vigilant, will fit month after month, year after year in our system of thoughts and will, in the long term, change our actions and our priorities.

Did you ever wonder why all music groups, mainly heavy metal, hard rock that clearly display a satanic belonging are always focused against Jesus Christ? Why not against Buddha, Muhammad, the Pope, or any other religious or spiritual entity? It is a fact that has always concern me. Of course, since I became a born again Christian, this fact does not surprises me at all to see upside down crosses. I have even seen on a disk cover, Jesus Christ crucified by a storm on a telegraph pole at night. Why these people who display their satanic practices focus only against Jesus Christ.

The answer is very easy.

Because Jesus Christ is the only one that satan and his demons fear, He is the one against whom they go, trying to change the attitudes of humans beings. Why do they not attack other religious or spiritual entities? Simply because they are not dangerous for them, they have nothing to offer in the way of being a threat. Only Jesus Christ has returned from hell to explain to us in the bible what there is really behind the physical death.

There are obvious examples, in deception those messages that have rooted into mentalities, and often many harmful things for us also look like good things, just like for example:

- Drink to have fun, because without alcohol there is no fun. This is entirely untrue. We do not need to drink to have fun.
- Take physical risks in sport called extreme. Always pushing the limits of life to have adrenaline.
- Overdoing things to his advantage.

Yet once again, we could easily extend this list. These are the ideas that not everyone agrees with of course, but they are well there, because satan is kind of changing attitudes, changing ways of living, always for the same purpose, preventing people from integrating into their lives the true Gospel of Jesus Christ.

What do we mean by this?

Simply that the vast majority of our lives is made with choices, to take a good decision we need to have a basis of balance. And it is this basis of balance that the devil is trying at any cost to change, so that in as many situations as possible we can think that a situation is good for us, even though it is not. The majority of the things that we do, that we say, can be a good or a bad way. Which doesn't mean that these things are bad and harmful for us. Let's look at the rest of the sentence of the Apostle Paul:

1 Corinthians 6: 12 ...Everything is permissible for me, but I will not be enslaved by anything.

In other words: "I won't let evil, or anything else bad, take over on me". And it is because of errors such as: "God said in the bible, that we are allowed to do this or that", that today, all the teaching, the message given by Jesus Christ a little more than two thousand years is totally distorted in the minds of most people who are not Christian, and unfortunately in the thinking of many who are also born again.

For some they are going to live their lives by stick to the objective they pursue, and others it will be a Christian life bland and heavy to live, made of exclusions of any kind with a poor result.

An example always strikes me when I hear it which demonstrates that there is manipulation that many succumb to (of course it doesn't concern us most of the time, but this proves that it is easy to lead humans in selected thoughts) that happens in all countries of the world that in television news, newspapers, they talk about any particular subject in an insistent way for several days. In France, this can be for example buses are being attacked by criminals. And for a week there is talk about these buses which are attacked by gangs, people abused, stolen. And in every conversation we hear people talking about buses that are being attacked. Grown fear, stress. Yet the rest of the year there are buses that are attacked every week in the country and nobody cares. And there, just because they talk about it in the news, there is almost the impression that this happens only when talking on television.

The same for pedophilia, the train that derailed, errors in medicine or injustice. This unfortunately happens every week in the world but we don't hear about it every time it happens. I have nothing against the information when it is distributed in a balanced way. This profession is like many others, made by people who do their job more or less well. Which does not mean that they are all that way.

The handling is easy, and the devil knows it.

All these things we talked about since the beginning of our reflection, would not be a great danger if they were isolated from each other. But this is not the case, and all this put on top of the other pushes many humans' beings outside of a true spiritual thought.

We have listed many of the aspects of this great deception and it is quite clear that it extends much further. The main thing is that you can understand that there is a great deception in your interest. It will always have a common point in all of its applications.

As we said above, it will push you to base your life with a belief and purpose which ends here on Earth. Regardless of the area of your life where it will be appointed and if you come to a point that you think that your life will shut down here on earth, you're one more victim of the great deception organized by satan in our world.

But there is much more than that.

In order for you to be no more deceived not one more day, here's the truth. We will see this truth that the world often conducted without his knowledge by demons, hide from us since so long... this great deception that satan still today is organizing and tries to hide to us. This may seem somewhat exaggerated but it is not because it is the only truth. It is a fact that we cannot change.

We said earlier that it is easy to check that the teaching of Jesus Christ is true. Let's look a little more closely what He says:

Roman 3: 23 For all have sinned, and come short of the glory of God;

If you didn't know, now you know it, we have all sinned at least once. Which means that every human in his life has at least once come out in thought or deeds, from the standard of purity of God. The basis is to love your neighbor as yourself. And because God loves us more than anything, He came in a human form in order to live a life without any fault, in a standard of perfect holiness. Jesus Christ was this man.

He gave various teachings, all contained in the bible, from the book of Matthew, until the book of revelation. These teachings are still here today to give the human race the basis of truth to be able to judge all the circumstances and make all the choices that are needed in our lives. I have for you, a news so good, that it would be almost too good to be true, and yet this news is true, and well true.

When Jesus Christ was executed by being crucified, He did so voluntarily. From a young age, He knew that he was the son of God who came to Earth to announce this good news. By accepting to die, He spiritually erased the faults of human beings; all the sins that men could commit are canceled. And it does not stop there.

All those who were born after this crucifixion will see all the mistakes (sins) they have committed, purely and simply abolished. All you can do or say God does not care, because Jesus made sure that nothing spiritually negative charged you. You are forgiven of everything you have done, say, or even what you do not forgive to yourself.

You are forgiven.

Some may say: "I don't feel guilty of anything whatsoever, so whatever for me to be forgiven".

Maybe you are not guilty of anything. But the fact is that all humans are deprived of God's presence for eternity, according to Roman 3: 23. It can happen not to feel guilty, but to be guilty anyway. Then maybe you did not know that you were guilty of not having always acted or did have good thinking, but now you know. Whether we accept it or not, it is a fact, all humans are guilty at this level. And that is why because of the voluntary sacrifice of Jesus Christ, God has done so that all are now forgiven. Today you received the two most important news of your entire life.

You were guilty without any possible remission. Guilty for eternity, without being able to do anything at this stage, to accomplish a sufficient standard of goodness to be able to live for eternity in a place where evil does not exist. And here's the real good news, you have been pardoned.

You now have access to live after your death in a new land, a new world where the evil will be no more present. And not for eighty years, but for eternity. This is a fact, even if you do not accept it, it is still available and at your fingertips in your everyday life. To see it come to pass in your daily life, you must simply accept it sincerely, which will have the effect to validate it.

But that is not all!

The Apostle Peter said:

Acts 4:12 Neither is there salvation in any other: for there is none other name under heaven given among men, whereby we must be saved.

Neither, which means no one if it is Jesus Christ. It is only through Him that we are saved.

But saved from what?

What mean this word "saved"?

The original of this verse of the book of acts in the bible was written in Greek. The word "saved" in Greek (Sozo), has a definition that encompasses several aspects. And these aspects are all included in the real good news that Jesus Christ has accomplished for us all. Here is what awaits you if you validate the grace that God offer you.

- Saved from the eternal punishment that was upon you.
- Healed from any sickness in your body.
- Be protected from all dangers.
- Live safely.

Jesus also said in His teachings that one who trusts in Him will never have lack of nothing materially.

Most people believe that God changes His attitude towards someone when he confides in Him.

This is entirely untrue.

God does not change. He has developed real good news at our disposal. And when a person "validates" this real good news in his own of everyday life, he simply receives just all the effects of it. It is exactly as if you had no car and I put a beautiful one in your garage, but that you see it years after only. Your life would be much more improved. Or if I fill up your kitchen with food but that you see it only a few days after, it would not change my attitude towards you, but once this food is discovered, if you were in need your life would be much more changed. That's exactly the same thing with what God has done for you with Jesus Christ, this was done a little more than two thousand years ago, but you are only aware of it maybe just today. God did it so a long time ago and it will take effect in your life when you will validate it.

What do we have to lose in all of this?

Nothing, on the contrary...

Who can offer us such a thing in our world?

An eternity in happiness, the healing of any disease, never needs anything, is safe... That is why this good news is almost too good to be true. I don't know anyone who came back after having validated this real good news in his life. No one of course can propose such a thing apart from God Himself. Most people, who refuse it, do it because they do not believe that this may be true. And this is what we said above, all this is very easily to verify. But before you can verify it out it must be validate.

Then how to validate this real good news in my own life?

Simply by saying it to God, to Jesus Christ.

How?

Exactly like if I was in front of you, and that I proposed this true good news to you. Jesus Christ is risen, thus still alive in Spirit. You can talk to Him just as you would do it to your best friend with your spirit (your conscience). If you feel better to talk to Him with your eyes open, keep your eyes open. If you feel better to talk by closing the eyes, well close your eyes.

There is no protocol, no all ready-made sentence, no "special" prayer, and no forgiveness to ask, because it is already done. Talk to Him with your words.

And if you are interested in this real good news, if you understand what Jesus Christ has done for you when He save you (Sozo), if you understand all the awesome consequences that this will involve in your life, then tell Him saying something like:

"All this for me? Whoa! I was dreaming about it! Yes, and three times Yes, I want to validate what you did in my own life, and thank you. Jesus, I agree to trust in you, and from now on I'll try to practice what you taught in the bible, because I understand that my life will be improved. God, I understood that you pardoned me, and that no matter what I'll do, even though what may say, you will never love me ever the more and ever the less, because you love me already infinitely. I realized that even if I am not perfect, you love me with my defaults and my qualities. And I know that now I am born again I've received a new nature, I'm restarting in a new life".

In any case I think that I would have said something similar. This statement will be different for everyone depending on the various personalities. The key is to be sincere. Once Validated nobody and nothing can cancel or undo it.

When we go through this "new birth", which means when we validate what God has done for us, our shortcomings, our defects will still be there. God does not care about them.

Romans 4: 8 (GW) Blessed is the person whom the Lord no longer considers sinful.

This verse speaks precisely about the people who have gone through this new birth.

Does this mean that I can do anything in my own life?

Not at all.

Why?

Just because I understood that to practice evil is harmful for me. Not because God will be angry with me, not at all. But because I have understood that it is me, and me alone, who will suffer the consequences of my shortcomings, but it is also me who will be the beneficiary of an honest life, where I endeavor to practice well. The human is not made to do evil, but to do the good.

God knows very well that you will mess up at certain times; this is not what is important. And it is so that you will have the real evidence that you were sincere in your "validation of the real good news in your own life", in these moments you will feel like an athlete who has fallen in his race.

Certainly he will be disappointed, even maybe angry against himself not to being prepared enough, but he gets up and continues to run the race.

Always remember that in these moments, God will never be accuser, never discouraging, but on the contrary, He will tell you: “Gets up, be brave, and continues you will do better the next time. And it is to know this sort of thing that helps us to persevere.

From now on you know all the truth, you are aware of this great deception that is in our world.

So are you going to stay there, to let you handle as a pawn, deceived by the one who wants your loss? Or well do you go without further wait validate this real good news which is at your disposal. Today, and since Jesus died on the cross, those who will end up in hell (where the good does not exist), go there for the same reason: God, by Jesus Christ, forgave all faults of each one of us, and it is for having chosen to not validated this real good news, somehow to have refused it that people go to hell, not for something else. Enter this new life will allow you to receive a new nature.

Anyone who will well understand this real good news cannot stay any longer without validating it in his daily life. If you don't feel the need to do so, it is because you have not fully understood it. Do not hesitate, re read this study to better assimilate and understand it well. Do not miss the best of the offers that you will have offered in your whole life.

It is also possible that you will say that all this is lie, God does not exist. In this case I'll prove to you that you are mistaken. I propose to experience all this in your everyday life, no later than now.

Here is what God says about those who wish to know Him.

Jeremiah 29: 13 And ye shall seek me, and find me, when ye shall search for me with all your heart.

We are commonly used to saying, for example, “I love you with all my heart”. Let's see what want to say in this phrase “with all my heart”. I remember when I was a kid used this expression when we wanted to express something of extremely strong. Surely you also used it as a child. It is obvious that we do not speak here from the physical heart, this organ that pumps our blood and circulates throughout our body. This passage from the old testament of the bible was written originally in Hebrew. Here the heart word means “my system of thought”, which brings all together my opinions, which contains my personality.

If so for a time, you use and focus all your thoughts on having the desire to know if God actually exists, if you use your energy to that, you will find God, you'll meet Him. It is a certainty, I assure you. This time may be longer or shorter depending on the people. All depends on your personality, your determination to find out the truth and be no more fooled by false ideas. I'm not looking to influence you at all, but simply to tell you what is true.

Here is an example base. First you need to be honest with yourself that you are ready to accept the truth. This is what search with all his heart means, regardless of the answer, I want it. I want to know if God exists or not, and I am willing to recognize and accept the truth.

When I get home and that I do not know if my wife Christine, is there, I open the door and I say: "I am back, are you there?" It is the surest and fastest way to know if she is here. With God it is exactly the same thing. Take a moment of tranquility, where you will be alone, sit, and say to God: "I've just read this text that Franck has written, but I do not believe that you exist, it all seems fake. But now I want to know, I want to be sure of my thoughts. So if you exist prove it to me, and I would like that you prove it to me in several ways in order that I no longer have any doubt anymore. At the end of this experience that could last several days, weeks, I would like to be sure that you do not exist or that you are real and true. From now on, I'll find out the truth with all my heart, with all my thoughts".

If you do this experience honestly and seriously, I guarantee you an awesome result in your life. I guarantee you a life like you have never had before. By going through the new birth that Jesus Christ offers, you will receive a new nature. God will come to dwell in you, in your spirit and you will see your new nature being developed day by day, you will, through the Holy Spirit that dwells within you the power to see your diseases whatever they are healed, the circumstances of your life changed to your advantage. You will get out of this great deception that pushes the vast majority of humans to invest themselves in various short-term purposes in order to prevent them from meeting God in a personal way.

When I am born again, or that I go through the new birth, I will not see disappear all my friends, my habits, everything I like to do.

No not at all.

Too many people think that if I entrust my life in God, I will not be able to do anything more and that I would just have to enter in a monastic life.

Absolutely not.

Quite often in some churches they welcome you with open arms, gently, without trying to change you whatsoever. But when you accept to validate this new birth and that you become a Christian, then they will try by all means to change you and saying: "Now you're Christian, you do not have to dress that way anymore " or "you no longer have to go in this place this is not good" or "you must not speak this way anymore" or ' you have to stop doing this or that thing".

Such words have scared off more than one of the churches. Many pastors are unfortunately in this kind of things. But not all of them fortunately. Because all these words are ridiculous. This is still the result of a huge lack of knowledge of the biblical teaching. Here is what the Apostle Paul says in this regard.

Romans 14:23 ...For whatever does not originate and proceed from faith is sin [whatever is done without a conviction of its approval by God is sinful].

What does mean this word of Paul so?

Just that when I go through the new birth, thus I become Christian, I enter a process. I got a new nature, the old one is dead, and it no longer exists. But some reflexes or habits remain. And it is here that begins my team with the Holy Spirit. Little by little, my priorities could change, my way of thinking also. This process will be more or less pronounced depending on the people. And I'll gently notice that I am a new person, but nothing should be done or forced in any way. This is exactly the same process of a child to an adult State.

It is a process also; however I did not have to fight to adopt an attitude of adult since my childhood, and I haven't had to force me or be frustrated whatsoever. It is exactly the same thing for the entry into a life with God. No changes should be done in me if this isn't the result of a conviction. If you are sincere and honest and you let yourself be loved by God, you will see that all this is only a daily pleasure.

There is no question of try to act to please God in any area whatsoever. God wants only one thing, that you let Him to love you, and not the contrary. He wants just to love you, and the fact to love him in return will provide you a profit. You see, God is perfect, He is totally balanced in His feelings, He is sufficient unto Himself, and He doesn't need to feel loved to be well. On the contrary, humans, need to feel loved for their balance, and this is that God wants to restore us. He simply wishes to you can be loved by Him.

This great deception which held you away from all this happiness since now is now discovered.

And there are still many other aspects of life with God that we have not addressed here. I'll be happy to help you in your approach if you feel the need. There are still many others of my studies of the bible on various topics that can help you to better understand, so to live better.

I would also be very glad to hear from your journey, your testimony. Feel free to contact me using the means by which you have received this text.
