THE GREAT DECEPTION

BIOGRAPHY

Franck became a born-again Christian in 1986 in Brisbane, Australia at the age of 22. It was in 2006 in the south of France that God revealed to him His desire to use him to spread His Gospel. Franck then began to seriously study the Bible, and to write his first Bible studies. It is only 7 years later that he created the ministry The Real Good News in Australia as well as “La Vraie Bonne Nouvelle” in France, after having received a solid training from the Holy Spirit.

Franck does not consider himself a writer, but simply a Christian who recounts what he experiences in his personal life. His books in the form of biblical studies are often enriched with anecdotes from his life wherein he does not hesitate to reveal his mistakes along the way; we also sometimes discover situations with his family. He is a person who places great emphasis on loving his neighbor. This is why Franck likes to pray to heal the sick, but also to teach people to help them enter into autonomy in Jesus. His main goal is to see a Church that uses all that God has given us, but also to see as many people as possible go through the new birth.

THE GREAT DECEPTION

A Deception?
Would there be things, thoughts, habits that deceive us?

In this study we will see a little more closely what is happening everyday around us.

Are we being manipulated unconsciously?

Too many people are ignorant of all these things, and the result is that a large majority of people are living in stress and unnecessary oppression.

I have long hesitated before writing on this subject. Some of you will qualify me perhaps as an extremist or perhaps fanatical and this is why we will try to deal with this delicate subject with balance, without eliciting us in unnecessary statements and actions.

Ignorance is a path that encourages errors. But the truth will give me some insurance as well as the stability and balance that I need to prevent me from being "tossed around" like a pawn.

Yes there is a great deception!

And it is so huge that unfortunately few people are aware of it, especially for those who are not born again, because they have no knowledge of all the truth of the spiritual world. Too often I've heard or seen Christians acting without being aware that they were victims of a deception. And it is also too often (to my opinion), that I have been myself the victim of this deception, simply because I hadn't paid enough attention.

The only way to prevent this is to grow in the knowledge of things, to know what happens, to have a clear vision. And it is there that the balance is extremely important. Because without a good balance in my thoughts, my actions and in my words, they will push me to an extremism and fanaticism, which are two things all equally harmful as the lack of knowledge.

If you are not born again be aware that you are manipulated. There is a great deception all around you.

THE GREAT DECEPTION

What is at stake?

You, precisely.

We will be learning from the truth that the Bible teaches, and see by using different verses (passages), that our daily life is largely influenced by all sorts of things to push us in a specific direction. We can have the impression of being the master of all our choices, but often it is not the case. This is only a false impression. Let's look at this first passage of the Bible.

1 Corinthians 2: 15 But he who is spiritual judges all things, yet he himself is rightly judged by no one.

Here is the same passage in another translation of the Bible:

1 Corinthians 2: 15 (amp) But the spiritual man [the spiritually mature Christian] judges all things [questions, examines and applies what the Holy Spirit reveals], yet is himself judged by no one [the unbeliever cannot judge and understand the believer's spiritual nature].

Very few people use their spirit. The new birth serves precisely this purpose: to use our spirit. The system of human thought is so complex that no one can state how it works in detail. Most of the time a crucial parameter is omitted, the spiritual side, which means the actions and operation of the spirit of human beings is often mixed with the mind, yet they are two distinct entities.

Then what is it to be spiritual?

I become spiritual when I understand that there are two entities in me. This has nothing to do with a split personality of course, but acknowledging that there are actually two entities in me. We might commonly call them personality and consciousness. Both are integral part of me, and it is as if one is a little more enclosed in me than the other. Most often the conscience is encapsulated, as if suffocated by the personality, but are always in connection with one and other.

It is these ideas of consciousness which we often have to look deep within ourselves that makes us who we are.

So it is a fact, if I use my spirit (my conscience), I'll be able to judge everything, which means that I will have the good vision of things and make the right decision.

Who has never dreamed about that?

THE GREAT DECEPTION

Have you dreamed about it?

I think that most of us have wished for that accomplishment.

Then you will tell me: “Too easy, from now on I'll use my conscience only, and everything will be fine, and I will always have a right way of thinking ».

Well no! This cannot not work that way.

Why?

Simply because my mind is linked with my conscience, in other words, my soul is linked with my spirit, and it is like my soul is suffocating it in its actions.

So it would have to be possible to separate them, and that would be it...

Yes, actually that would be almost it.

I say “almost” because there is still a problem. Even if I could separate my spirit from my soul so that it could not be 'influenced' by my mind, my spirit still has needs to be regenerated.

Without this process, any attempt will result in failure. Having the good judgment, the good speech, the good thinking is the dream of many. Potentially no more regrets, no more errors.

Here is another passage that teaches us about the solution.

Hebrews 4: 12 For the word of God is living and powerful, and sharper than any two-edged sword, piercing even to the division of soul and spirit, and of joints and marrow, and is a discerner of the thoughts and intents of the heart.

The word of God, are these words that God pronounced, especially in certain passages of the Bible, but also in the spirit of those who are born again. These words are the only effective ones to separate my spirit from my mind (my soul). It is the only solution, there is no other one.

And it is here that begins the great deception. If you have trouble believing what you have just read, you are a victim of this great deception.

Why?

Because what you have just read is the truth, it is an easily verifiable fact. We will talk about it in a moment.

THE GREAT DECEPTION

Today, most of the time, in the vast majority of countries, everything is done to prevent me from realizing that the spiritual is the source of happiness. Certainly there are many psychics, astrologers, various sects, who will propose a better life through the spiritual. But all this is just a trick. This results from the spiritual world of course, but managed by beings who have only one goal.

Which one?

Our loss.

One day, a member of my family who has not yet been born again said to me on this subject: "I believe in those who tell me my future. A fortune teller predicted a divorce, and I ended up getting a divorce. Another predicted serious heart disease, and I finally got it. Everything I was told has come true."

And in the face of this sad situation, he said that all this was very real. Of course it's real, but he didn't see that he was just a pawn. And because he had been told of various future sufferings, he accepted them with fatalism.

Just as good and evil are all around us in our daily lives, (everyone regularly has the opportunity to see good things, as well as bad things) good and evil have their source in this invisible world that is the spiritual world.

The greatest aspect of this immense deception is to make us believe by different means that this spiritual world does not exist.

Whether you believe it or not, it does not change that fact. The spiritual world exists. At this point, it is possible that some may say to themselves: "I have read enough, yet another story as old as the world that does not exist".

If you stop reading now, you will never know the true truth. Remember earlier when we said that all this is very easily verifiable. And I now add that anyone who knows this truth will see the whole negative of his life change towards new days, towards unceasing happiness.

What lies behind these few pages that we will discover together goes far beyond all your expectations in terms of joy, peace, freedom, love, patience, kindness, fidelity, virtue.

In this spiritual world is the One who created you, God. He is love in all His essence (For more details on this subject see my study entitled "The Personality of God"). When God created us, a spiritual being was jealous to the point of hating us on a level far beyond our intellectual understanding. His name was Lucifer. Today he has become the tempter, the one who never ceases to push humans towards suffering, hatred, and death. He's a calumniator, that's what his name means, the devil. As we said earlier, his greatest trick is to make it appear that he does not exist. And unfortunately many believe so. But whether or not you believe it doesn't change the reality.

Don't be fooled anymore, don't be duped by such ideas. All this is real and active on our earth. It is easy to see this when you look around you with precision. A lot of things are set up to push us in one direction or another. Many things are cleverly designed to try to make us think in a certain way. The forms are diverse, but the goal remains the same: to ensure that we do not discover and understand what Jesus Christ came to earth to accomplish a little more than two thousand years ago. We will see this point in more detail a little later at the same time as the ease of checking everything the Bible says.

I remain very vigilant in my daily life, about not entering an extreme, harmful, or unnecessary imbalance that would not bring anything good.

For this reason, very often when I am in a public place, I try to observe people. When I have the opportunity, I talk with them, I listen to the discussions. And it was in those moments that I realized years ago that everyone is in pursuit of something. All will make efforts at different levels to achieve a goal.

The applications are very varied.

- Some will study, accumulate as much knowledge as possible.
- Others engaged in helping others.
- Alternatively, are in the cult of the body, the physical well-being.
- Travelling, discovering the world.
- A united family, in which they will find love.
- Put their identity in the work.
- Go against any injustice.
- A religion.
- Have as leisure as possible to enjoy life.
- Always try to be superior to others, crush them.
- The collectors.
- The dishonest, misleading others.
- Those who can never get enough.
- The perfectionists.
- The nature lovers.
- The animal defenders...

THE GREAT DECEPTION

The list could still easily be dozens of additional pages long. I think that everyone, with a bit of objectivity will be able to find out what their goal is and, and what they are pursuing here on Earth.

The most fragrant of the means used is advertising. Because, if we are not careful, it pushes us into useless priorities. It will create needs in us that are not. And these needs, once well anchored in our thoughts, will focus us, for a more or less long time depending on the person, on something other than a spiritual need or lack, or on spiritual issues. All this is a very long-term process. Of course, an advertisement isolated in time is totally harmless, but it is time that gives it its strength, each time I go to see it, read it, or hear it. And all this in the long run will change my thoughts. Look around you, it is everywhere: signs, letters, emails, phone calls, text messages, etc....

Most of the time an advertisement is there to bring a profit to the one who publishes it, but beyond the profit is a manipulation orchestrated by evil spiritual beings.

Everything is done to keep our thoughts focused on the material, to give us a better life expectancy here on earth. To make us believe that the essential is on this earth. But this is totally false, because each human being will not see his life stop at his physical death. Life goes on in infinity for everyone.

Following our physical death, good and evil separate, and Jesus Christ came to earth to make available this eternal access where evil will no longer be. He is the only one who can propose this, because He is the only one who has returned from the other side for forty days on earth, establishing a relationship with His apostles, and then to have returned to God. No one else could do that.

Over time, another phenomenon of deception has emerged: the "human idols".

Satan said to himself: Why not idealizing certain humans so that the vast majority can adulate them. From this came the so-called "stars": singers, actors, sportsmen, etc... I am not saying that every "star" is the product of the devil, but the concept of the idol comes from satan.

Today how many people identify themselves with celebrities and miss their own destiny. They talk like them, sometimes dress like them, they live in a dream, outside reality. In more or less pronounced extremes, this state aims to make them focus on a person, and above all to prevent them from thinking about their eternity as a human being. They live on the personality of another person, and therefore will not be able to build their own lives. Their own person is strongly occulted, and this is the purpose of idolatry, not to take care of oneself, of one's true self by identifying oneself with another.

THE GREAT DECEPTION

Are all those who have a great reputation harmful to their fellow human beings?
Not at all.

But one thing is certain, it is that there is a deception there, in the fact of identifying with another. Some "stars" are well aware of this and feed this fact, just out of simple pride. Others have committed themselves to a contract with Satan, exchanging their worldwide notoriety for loyalty to demonic spirits. It is also a deception for those who have agreed this contract with demonic spirits, because once they have entered into their notoriety, they will have great difficulty getting away with it. Simply because pride is flattered, but it is not impossible to deal with.

You see the devil and his demons have only one power, that of suggesting deceitful thoughts in the human thought system. This is why satan and his demons are able to give fame, to set a trend, to make this or that idea become popular in the majority of people's thoughts on earth. The new birth is the only way to unmask these kinds of thoughts, because the vast majority of people are not at all aware that they are being manipulated in their daily lives by these satanic lies.

Those who feel the need to be seen at all costs by different means are only victims of this deception. How many people try to exist through something? In the professional field, for example. Often all the ideas of our society on this subject push us to take care of "our career".

Is that really the purpose of a lifetime?

No, I do not think so.

Everything is distorted when we base ourselves on an existence that stops at our physical death on this earth. At that moment, everything becomes unbalanced. We say to ourselves: "I have only seventy or ninety years to live, at most, so I shouldn't waste time. I want to succeed in what society proposes, I don't want to waste time". So in this case, everything is focused on the job we do, without worrying about the eternity that awaits us. There is a balance in all things. I'm not saying that studying to have a good job is a bad thing, or even that investing ourselves in doing our job in a good way is a bad thing too. But we must simply realize that my profession is there to serve me, to meet my material needs, and not for me to become a slave of it, and that it absorbs my entire existence. This is a trap organized to make me miss the essential, namely, a new life in what Jesus Christ offered me.

Of course, if our life were to be summed up in our passage on earth, we would have to build and invest in each of our days, but it is quite the opposite. Our passage on earth is only there to determine our eternity: either where good will no longer exist, or where evil will no longer exist. And most people act as if it was exactly the opposite.

What a mistake!

Our whole society today is based on this fact; to make the most of our days here on earth because sooner or later we will all die; but things do not stop there. Often I have the impression that people are trying to spend time, in one way or another, very often for the purposes we have listed above. They are not aware of it, of course, but through it, they seek an ideal, a happiness, a well-being. Very few manage to reach it, and for those who think they have, it is only an ephemeral moment that will suddenly stop when they die physically.

If we were to summarize this great deception, I would say that it lies in the fact that it makes us think in the short term. It makes us believe by various means that it is only here that we must build, invent, whereas it is on a much longer term, that of eternity. If we compare an eternity to an average of ninety years on earth, it is obvious that it would be stupid not to deal with this period that will last forever, which I will enter just after my physical death.

Have you ever taken the time to stop and ask yourself some questions?

Why am I here?

In which area of my life have I invested so far?

Am I influenced by the society in which I live?

Have I been busy preparing my eternity?

Please understand this. All these examples that take us away from the truth we have mentioned will only be harmful if they stifle the real questions I have to ask myself; like the ones above. If everything was black or white, things would be easier, but they are not. In general, everyone knows what is good or bad, but there are cases, which, depending on how they are experienced, can go from a harmless to a very harmful stage for us.

Don't get me wrong, I'm not saying that you have to live in a monastic life, no. Remember what the apostle Paul said: "Everything is allowed, of course, but not everything is useful, and I would not let myself be enslaved by anything". The great deception is not realizing that our thoughts are not going in the right direction, that we are not asking ourselves the right questions. And there, all means are good to make us focus on various subjects.

THE GREAT DECEPTION

Don't get me wrong, I am not saying that we must live in a monastic life. Remember what the Apostle Paul says: "Everything is permissible (allowable and lawful) for me; but not all things are helpful (good for me to do, expedient and profitable when considered with other things). Everything is lawful for me, but I will not become the slave of anything or be brought under its power." 1 Corinthians 6: 12 (AMP)

The great deception lies in not realizing that our thoughts do not go in the right direction, that we are not asking ourselves the right questions. And there, all means are good to make us focus on various topics.

Am I saying that these various subjects are bad?

No.

But it is the space that we give them in our thoughts that will make them harmful. If when I see an advertisement I end up buying something that I do not need, because I constantly need to possess what attracts me, I would never be satisfied. It's like a bottomless pit that we would try to fill.

Am I saying that advertising is not good?

No, not at all.

If I use only advertising to inform myself about the opportunities available to me, there is nothing harmful about it.

If I am so invested in my work that I no longer have a family life, and I no longer have time for anything, my work has become harmful to my life, even if I feel that I am important and that I am flourishing in a professional manner. I miss the point because I wouldn't be able to stop to think and ask myself the right questions about my life.

Is work a harmful thing for all that?

No, not at all.

It was what I did with it that became harmful. Work is a very good thing, because it allows me to live and put my physical or intellectual abilities at the service of society.

If I have a need to amass money because it gives me importance, because I want to be able to buy everything when I want, because I have a huge fear of what could happen to me... I would never be at peace. I would constantly feel like I have "not enough", and I would not be able to ask myself the right questions, because having more and more money will occupy all my thoughts.

Does it mean that money is a bad thing?

Absolutely not.

Money itself is a very good thing. It is the way I use it that will determine whether it is harmful or not. It is I, by choosing the use I will make it good and powerful, or bad and powerful.

I have also sadly noted this case several times. If as a pastor of a church I am more concerned about the number of people who will come every Sunday, because my church will become important to people; if I want those who enter it to be impressed because everything is beautiful and perfectly organized; if this church for which I am in charge becomes my identity; if it makes me what I am... I have totally missed the point, I missed it. And because of this church, I would be so busy making sure that my image through it is the best possible, that I would not hear what the Holy Spirit tells me. My work as a pastor would no longer be useful.

Can we say that a church of born again people is a bad thing?

Obviously not.

Again, that's what I'm going to do with it, the way I'm going to apprehend it, which will make a church become harmful to me or not.

This example shows that great deception even works in Christian circles.

And then there are also those who let themselves be swayed by the circumstances of their lives, for various reasons. Some are shy, and as a result, are centred on themselves in an extreme negative that constantly diminishes them. It may sound hard to say that, but that is the reality. Being shy is only the result of being too self-centered. Shyness is the opposite of pride, but it is as harmful as pride.

There are percussion sticks that are strictly identical from one end to the other. They are often used in one way or the other, and this does not change the sound or touch at all, because the two extremes are identical. Well, it's exactly the same when you're self-centered. Very often we think that pride is the only reason for being self-centered.

THE GREAT DECEPTION

This is entirely untrue.

Pride is not the only feeling that makes us centered on ourselves, being superior and overpowering.

It is a very restrictive vision of being self-centered.

Like this percussion stick, being centered on yourself goes both ways. Yet these two extremities are totally opposed to each other, just like these two reactions, pride or shyness. It is the same for being centered on oneself, this common denominator gives two opposite, but just as harmful effects as each other. If those who are shy thought less about what others think about them, or even stopped feeding what their own thoughts tell them about themselves, they would be much more enterprising, much more spontaneous, and would feel much better about themselves. I am deliberately making this aside because I too often hear bad reactions about adults who are not sure of themselves and get stuck in many things for nothing. We tend, because they are weak, to protect them with soft words that are in line with their problems, and this only reinforces them in their thoughts of timidity. Shyness is made a fatality simply because it looks sweet, kind and helpless. Yet it is the opposite, timidity, even if it may seem sweet and kind, is only the result of being too focused on themselves. It is just as harmful and destructive as pride.

Am I saying that we must treat those who are in this case with severity without sparing them, a bit like we would do with a person who would be proud at the other extreme, by shaking them up, by talking harshly to them?

No not at all.

In these two extremes, the one who diminishes as well as the one who elevates himself, the manifestation of love and interest in the other is the only constructive attitude. Too often we tend to treat one extreme, pride with strength and vehemence, and the other extreme timidity with gentleness and laxity. Yet both have to be dealt with, and must be dealt with in the same way, with patience, firmness and love for each other, because they are both equally harmful.

It is very easy to find teachings that warn against pride in the Bible. And too often, in my opinion, we have left out the shyness, because we talk less about it. See, balance is the basis, being in the center of the drumstick we were talking about above. Too much on one side will be as bad as too much on the other. When playing percussion, you have to be able to keep your stick in perfect balance, neither too much weight in the front nor too much weight in the back. In one case the stick will bounce too much and in the other case it will not bounce enough and the sound will not be good.

THE GREAT DECEPTION

1 Timothy 1: 7 (AMP) For God did not give us a spirit of timidity or cowardice or fear, but [He has given us a spirit] of power and of love and of sound judgment and personal discipline [abilities that result in a calm, well-balanced mind and self-control].

Shyness is something that we must fight with as much strength and fervour as any other negative thing in our lives. This is part of the great deception Satan has developed on earth among humans, to make shyness seem inoffensive.

The vast majority of people, and including Christians, often make the same mistake, they think that everything is good or everything is evil. They develop like a list in their conception of life with some: "This is a good thing", and, "This is a bad thing". These are ideas that the Bible does not teach at all. Even if there are thoughts which are either good or bad, everything is not so. Yet most Christians and non-Christians think that the kind of life that God offers us in Jesus Christ is only about bonds and interdictions.

Let's look at what the Apostle Paul says about it. He was facing some Christians who told him: "So Paul, you tell us that we are forgiven in advance of all our sins through Jesus Christ, then finally everything is permitted, we can let ourselves go to all sorts of things".

And here is what Paul replied:

1 Corinthians 6: 12 (AMP) Everything is permissible for me, but not all things are beneficial. Everything is permissible for me, but I will not be enslaved by anything [and brought under its power, allowing it to control me].

This is here the perfect balance. Of course there is no need to think very long to understand that certain things are harmful to me. Stealing, being mean, or even killing, will have very negative consequences on my life. I may end up in prison, lose friends, make other person unhappy, etc....

But then why did Paul answer them this?

For a majority of things, it's all about how, with what kind of thoughts I'm going to say it, or do it. And the vast majority of Christian teachings today will tell you: "You must do this or that, or not do this or that. But things go far beyond that. I think this is one of the reasons why most people are not interested in what Jesus Christ proposes in his teaching. Because many fall into a great deception that leads them to think:

THE GREAT DECEPTION

- All this does not exist, or
- I will not be able to do what I love, or
- I don't want to become a nerd, or
- I don't want to have prohibitions in my life...

And the list could be even longer than that. But all these reasons are just the result of a deception that does not show the reality of the life with Jesus Christ. Let's take a few examples:

For thousands of years, staging has been used to convey messages: in the theatre, in songs, then a little later in movies and advertisements. In all these things there is both very good and very bad. That is, for example, why Paul said, "Everything is permissible for me, but not all things are beneficial". In most of the things we look at there is good and bad, and it is up to us to choose to see this or that movie, to listen to that or that song, to read that or that book, etc...

Does it say that the cinema, books, are not good, or that we do not have to listen to music?

Not at all.

But in everything, there are consequences that are more or less great, more or less powerful. And for example, the trick here is to make you believe that:

- Watch the violence will not change you.
- Watch pornography will not affect on your being.
- Read or listen to lies, won't make you a liar.

Of course, it is not the message of a movie or song that will change you all at once. But all these times, one after the other, slowly but surely, will change your way of thinking, and therefore your way of doing things.

For several decades now, appeared the subliminal messages. It is in the fifty's that the first messages have emerged. Technology evolves, today these types of message are found practically everywhere where it is possible to insert them: in the movies at the cinema, on television, in the songs. In everything that is filmed or recorded, there is the possibility of inserting a subliminal message.

How does it works?

THE GREAT DECEPTION

This process consists, for any video, in inserting images that we will not really see. A video is just a succession of recorded images that pass before our eyes. On average, whether it is a movie, an advertisement or any other video, twenty-four images pass before our eyes every second. Simply delete one of these twenty-four images, and replace it with another image of your choice. When I see this video, I won't notice anything, but my brain will record this "intrusive image" without me noticing. From that moment on, everything is possible, and everything has already been used. There are countless movies today that use this process to insert all kinds of ideas to direct the viewer's reactions. Anguish is accentuated in horror movies, for example, by inserting even more horrific images at strategic moments than those already contained in the movie. This is so that the spectators can experience real fears and get value for their money in a way.

In various films several ideas are inserted. I have seen in various movies, very famous cartoons for children, pornographic images judiciously inserted. Those who practice this kind of thing are themselves manipulated in this great trick to build our future society with as many pornographic practices as possible. This will result in people in a society who will have ideas and influences as far away from biblical thoughts as possible.

This system is also widely used to sell any product. In an advertising spot, images with sentences on the screen are sometimes inserted, such as: "Drink this drink", or "vote for such or such". The recipe is always the same and the vast majority of people, including new-born Christians, get caught in the trap. As this type of system evolves and wreaks havoc in the long term, it is in most cases considered harmless.

But it is not the case.

As you have now understood, there are no limits with this system, everything is now possible in terms of broadcasting messages without people's awareness. The manipulation is now without any restrictions. Today, no one deprives himself of this system anymore. Some practices are more or less offensive. If I am "manipulated" to buy this or that soap, it is not of great gravity for my everyday life, except in the fact that I have been deceived about quality.

On the other hand, when it will prevent me from accessing eternal life with God in a place where evil no longer exists, then it becomes much more serious. There are quantities of demonic messages circulating in all kinds of movies, advertisements, TV shows and series that we watch. These messages are intended to keep all those who watch them away from a spiritual reflection centered on the Bible. Messages such as: God does not exist, the Bible is false, real life is in debauchery, crushing others to move forward, etc....

THE GREAT DECEPTION

The video clips of a majority of artists are not left out in this subliminal system. Some, known worldwide, use it to sell even more CDs or downloads. But others who have adopted satan in their lives, insert anti-Biblical ideas. It is very easy to have proof of this by using an internet search engine. I am the first to say that there is not only the truth on the Internet, there are certainly affabulations on this subject but you will also find true and relevant examples that will make you think.

The same is also found in audio recordings. And here it is a much larger audience that is being reached. It is often when I am on public transport that I notice this. We have all noticed that almost half of the people have headphones on their ears. Twenty years ago, only young people were concerned, but today it is all ages. Everyone is listening to something. So this is the most effective way to convey any message: the audio. Most often in music, it is all kinds of messages that, if we are not vigilant, will be inserted month after month, year after year into our system of thoughts and will in the long term modify our actions and priorities.

Have you ever wondered why all music bands, mainly heavy metal, hard rock bands that clearly display a satanic belonging, are always centered against Jesus Christ? Why not against bouda, mahomet, the pope, or any other religious or spiritual entity? This is a fact that has always challenged me. Of course, since I became a born-again Christian, this fact no longer surprises me at all to see crosses upside down. I even saw on a record cover Jesus Christ crucified by a stormy night on a telegraph pole.

Why do these people who display their satanic practices focus only on Jesus Christ?

The answer is very easy.

Because Jesus Christ is the only one that Satan and his demons fear, he is the only one they must fight against when trying to change human mentalities. Why don't they attack other religious or spiritual entities? Simply because they are not dangerous for them, they have nothing to offer. Only Jesus Christ came back from hell to explain to us in the Bible what is really behind physical death.

These are obvious examples and in deception because of these messages that are anchored in people's minds, very often many things that are harmful to us also seem to be good things, such as:

- Drink to have fun, because without alcohol there is no fun. That is totally false. We don't need to drink to have fun.
- Take physical risks in so-called extreme sports. Always push the boundaries of life to get adrenaline.

THE GREAT DECEPTION

- Exaggerate things to your advantage.

Again, we could very easily expand that list. These are ideas that not everyone shares, of course, but they are there, because satan makes sure to change mentalities, to change ways of living, always with the same goal in mind: to prevent people from integrating the true good news of Jesus Christ into their lives.

What do we mean by this?

Simply that the vast majority of our lives are made of choices. To make a good decision, you need to have a basis of balance. And it is this basis of balance that the devil tries at all costs to change, so that in as many situations as possible we can think that a situation is good for us, when it is not.

Most of the things we do, we say, can be done in a good or bad way. This does not mean that these things are bad and harmful to us.

Let us look at the rest of the Apostle Paul's sentence:

1 Corinthians 6: 12 ...Everything is permissible for me, but I will not be enslaved by anything.

In other words: "I won't let evil, or anything else bad, take over on me".

And it is because of mistakes such as: "God says in the Bible, that you have no right to do this or that", that today all the teaching, the message that Jesus Christ gave more than two thousand years ago is totally false in the minds of most people who are not Christians, and unfortunately in the minds of many who are also born again. For some they will live their lives clinging to the goal they pursue, and for others it will be a bland and heavy Christian life, made of all kinds of prohibitions with a poor result.

An example constantly strikes me when I hear it, which shows that there is manipulation and that many people succumb to it (of course it doesn't affect us most of the time, but it proves that it is easy to lead the human into chosen thoughts). It happens in every country in the world that in the news, in the newspapers, we are told about this or that subject in an insistent way for several days. In France, this can be for example buses that are attacked by criminals. And for a week we hear about these buses being attacked by gangs, mistreated and robbed people. And in all conversations we hear people talking about buses being attacked. Fear grows, stress grows. Yet all the rest of the year there are buses that are attacked every week in the country and no one cares. And here, simply because it is mentioned in the news, it almost seems as if it only happens when it is mentioned on television.

THE GREAT DECEPTION

The same applies to paedophilia, derailed trains, medical or judicial errors. Unfortunately, all this happens every week in the world, but we don't hear about it every time. I have nothing against information when it is broadcast in a balanced way. This profession is like many others, made up of people who do their jobs more or less well. This does not mean that everyone is like that.

Manipulation is easy, and the devil knows it.

All these things we have been talking about since the beginning of our reflection, would not be of great danger if they were isolated from each other. But this is not the case, and all this put together, pushes many human beings out of true spiritual thinking.

We have listed several aspects of this great deception and it is clear that it extends much further. The important thing is that you can understand that there is indeed a great deception against you. It will always have one thing in common in all its applications.

As we said above, it will push you to base your life on a purpose that stops on earth. No matter what area of your life it has entered into, if you come to think that your life will end here on earth, you are one more victim of the great deception organized by Satan in our world.

But there is much more than that.

So that you don't let yourself be fooled one more day, here's the truth.

We will see together this truth that the world, often directed without its awareness by demons, has been hiding from us for so long... this great deception that Satan still organizes today and tries to hide from us. It may sound a little pretentious, but it is not because it is the only truth. This is a fact that cannot be changed.

We said earlier that it is easy to verify that the teaching of Jesus Christ is true. Let us take a closer look at what He is saying:

Roman 3: 23 For all have sinned, and come short of the glory of God;

If you didn't know it, now you know it, we have all sinned at least once. That is, each human being, in his or her life, has at least once stepped out of God's standard of purity in thought or in action. The basis is to love your neighbour as yourself. And because God loves us more than anything else, He came in human form to live a life without any fault, in a standard of perfect holiness. Jesus Christ was that man.

He gave various teachings, all contained in the Bible, from the book of Matthew to the book of Revelation. These teachings are still here today to give the human race the basis of truth to be able to judge all the circumstances and make all the choices that are necessary in our lives. I have for you, such good news, that it would be almost too good to be true, and yet this news is true, and very true.

When Jesus Christ was executed while being crucified, he did so voluntarily. From a very young age, He knew that He was the Son of God who came to earth to proclaim this good news. By accepting to die, He spiritually erased the faults of human beings; all the sins that men may have committed are cancelled out. And it doesn't stop there.

All those born after this crucifixion will see all the faults (sins) they have committed, purely and simply cancelled. God does not care about anything you can do or say, because Jesus made sure that nothing negative was imputed to you spiritually. You are forgiven for everything you have been able to do, to say, even for what you do not forgive yourself.

You are forgiven.

Some may say, "I don't feel guilty about anything, so I don't care to be forgiven." Maybe you don't feel guilty about anything. But the fact is, that all humans are deprived of God's presence for all eternity, according to Romans 3: 23. It can happen that you don't feel guilty, but you are. So maybe you didn't know that you were guilty of not always doing the right thing, or not always having the right thought, but now you know it. Whether we accept it or not, it is a fact, all humans are guilty at this level. And that is why, thanks to the voluntary sacrifice of Jesus Christ, God has made it possible for all to be forgiven now. Today you have received the two most important news of your entire life.

You were guilty with no possible remission. Guilty for eternity, without being able to do anything at your level to achieve a standard of goodness sufficient to be able to live forever in a place where evil does not exist.

And here's the real good news, you've been pardoned.

You now have access to live after your death on a new land, in a new world where evil will no longer be present. And not for eighty years, but for eternity. All this is a fact, even if you do not accept it, it remains nevertheless available and within your reach in your daily life. To see it fulfilled in your daily life, you simply have to accept it sincerely, which will validate it.

THE GREAT DECEPTION

But that is not all!

The Apostle Peter said:

Acts 4: 12 Nor is there salvation in any other, for there is no other name under heaven given among men by which we must be saved.

No other, that is, no other, except Jesus Christ. It is only through Him that we are saved.

But saved from what?

What does the word "saved" mean?

The original of this verse of Acts in the Bible was written in Greek. The word "saved" in Greek (Sozo), has a definition that encompasses several aspects. And these aspects are all included in the true good news that Jesus Christ accomplished for all of us. So here is what awaits you if you validate the grace that God offers you.

- Saved from the eternal condemnation that was upon you.
- Healed from any disease in your body.
- Be safe from all dangers.
- Live in safety.

Jesus also said in His teachings that he who trusts in Him will never lack anything materially.

Most people think that God changes His attitude towards someone when they confide in Him.

That is totally false.

God does not change. He has made a really good news available to us. And when a person "validates" this true good news in his or her own daily life, he or she simply receives all the effects. It's exactly as if you don't have a car and I put a nice one in your garage, but you only notice it years later. Your life would have been much improved. Or if I filled your kitchen with food but you only noticed it a few days later. I would not have changed my attitude towards you, but once this food was discovered, if you were in need your life would be very different. It is exactly the same with what God did for you with Jesus Christ, this was done a bit more than two thousand years ago, but you may just realize it today. God did this a long time ago and it will take effect in your life when you validate it.

What do we have to lose in all of this?

THE GREAT DECEPTION

Nothing, on the contrary...

Who can offer us such a thing in our world?

An eternity in happiness, the healing of any disease, not lacking anything, being safe... That is why this good news is almost too good to be true. I don't know anyone who has stepped back after validating this real good news in their life.

No one, of course, can propose such a thing outside of God Himself. Most people who refuse it do so because they do not believe that it can be true. And that's what we said above, all this is very easily verifiable. But before you can check it, you have to validate it.

Then how to validate this real good news in my own life?

Simply by expressing it to God, to Jesus Christ.

How?

Exactly as if I were in front of you, and I was offering you this real good news. Jesus Christ rose from the dead, therefore still alive in spirit. You can talk to Him as you would to your best friend with your spirit (your conscience). If you feel better about talking to him with your eyes open, keep your eyes open. If you feel better about talking to him/her by closing your eyes, then close your eyes.

There is no protocol, no ready-made sentences, no "special" prayers, no forgiveness to ask for because it has already been done. Talk to Him in your words. And if you are interested in this true good news, if you have understood what Jesus Christ did for you by saving you (Sozo), if you have understood all the wonderful consequences that this will bring to your life, then tell Him so by saying something like: "All this for me? Wow! Wow! I dreamed of it! Yes, and three times yes, I want to validate what you've done in my own life, and thank you. Jesus, I accept to trust in you, and from now on I will try to put into practice what you have taught in the Bible, because I have understood that my whole life will be improved. God, I have understood that you have forgiven me, and that no matter what I do, no matter what I say, you will never love me more and never less, because you already love me infinitely. I understood that even if I'm not perfect, you love me with my faults and qualities. And I know that now I have been born again, that I have received a new nature, I am moving on to a new life."

Anyway, I think I would have said something similar. This statement will be different for everyone depending on the different personalities. The most important thing is that it is sincere. Once validated, nothing and no one will be able to cancel it.

When we go through this "new birth", that is, when we validate what God has done for us, our shortcomings, our defects will always be there. God doesn't care about them.

Romans 4: 8 (GW) Blessed is the person whom the Lord no longer considers sinful.

This verse speaks precisely about the people who have gone through this new birth.

Does this mean that I can do anything in my own life?

Not at all.

Why?

Simply because I understood that practicing evil is harmful to me. Not because God will be angry with me, not at all. But because I will have understood that it is I, and only I, who will suffer the consequences of my shortcomings. But it is also I who will be the beneficiary of an honest life, where I will strive to do well. Humans are not made to do evil, but to do good.

God knows very well that you will fail at times, that's not what's serious. And this is how you will have real proof that you have been sincere in your "validation of the true good news in your own life", in these moments you will feel like an athlete who has fallen in his race. Certainly he will be disappointed, even angry with himself for not having prepared enough, but he gets up and continues the race. Always remember that in these moments, God will never be accusatory, never discouraging, but on the contrary, He will tell you: "Get up, be brave, continue, you will do better next time". And it's knowing this kind of thing that helps us persevere.

From now on you know the whole truth, you are aware of this great deception that is in our world.

So are you going to stand there and let yourself be manipulated like a pawn, deceived by the one who wants your loss? Or will you immediately validate this real good news that is at your disposal. Today and since Jesus died on the cross, those who will end up in hell (where good does not exist), all go there for the same reason: God, through Jesus Christ, has now forgiven all the faults of each of us, and it is because they have chosen not to validate this true good news, in a way to have refused it, that people go to hell, not for anything else. Entering this new life will allow you to receive a new nature.

Anyone who has understood this true good news correctly will no longer be able to stay any longer without validating it in their daily lives. If you don't feel the need to do so, it's because you didn't understand it correctly. Do not hesitate, reread this study to better assimilate it and understand it properly. Don't miss the best offer you'll ever get in your life.

It is also possible that you may think all this is a lie, God does not exist. In that case, I'll prove you wrong. I suggest that you experience all this in your daily life, no later than now.

Here is what God says about those who wish to know Him.

Jeremiah 29: 13 And you will seek Me and find Me, when you search for Me with all your heart.

It is common practice to say, for example, "I love you with all my heart". Let us see what this expression means "with all my heart". I remember when I was a child we used this expression when we wanted to express something extremely strong. Surely you used it as a child too. It is obvious that we are not talking here about the physical heart, the organ that pumps our blood and circulates it throughout our body. This passage from the Bible's Old Testament was originally written in Hebrew. Here the word heart means "my system of thought", which includes all my opinions, which contains my personality.

If, then, for a time, you use and concentrate all your thoughts on having the desire to know if God really exists, if you use your energy for that, you will find God, you will meet Him. It is a certainty, I assure you. This time may be more or less long depending on the person. It all depends on your personality, your determination to know the truth and not to be fooled by false ideas. I'm not trying to influence you at all, but just to tell you what's true.

Here is an example base. First of all, you must be honest with yourself, that is, be ready to accept the truth, whatever it may be. That's what you're looking for with all your heart, no matter what the answer is, I want it. I want to know if God exists or not, and I am ready to recognize and accept the truth.

When I come home and I don't know if Christine, my wife, is there, I open the front door and say, "I'm home, are you there? ». This is the safest and fastest way to find out if she is present. With God it is exactly the same thing. Take a moment of quietness, where you will be alone, sit down, and say to God: "I have just read this text that Franck wrote, but I don't think you exist, all this seems to be false to me. But now I want to know, I want to be sure of my thoughts. So if you exist prove it to me, and I would like you to prove it to me in several ways so that I will no longer have any doubts. At the end of this experience, which may last several days, weeks, I would like to be sure that either you do not exist, or that you are real and true. From now on, I will seek to know the truth with all my heart, with all my thoughts.”

If you experience this honestly and seriously, I guarantee you a tremendous result in your life. I guarantee you a life like you've never had before. By passing through the new birth that Jesus Christ proposes to you, you will receive a new nature. God will come to dwell in you, in your spirit and you will see your new nature develop from day to day, you will have, thanks to the Holy Spirit who will dwell in you, the power to see your diseases, whatever they may be healed, the circumstances of your life changed to your advantage. You will emerge from this great deception that pushes the vast majority of humans to invest themselves in different ephemeral goals in order to prevent them from meeting God in a personal way.

When I am born again, or going through the new birth, I will not see disappear all my friends, my habits, everything I like to do.

No not at all.

Too many people think that if I entrust my life to God, I could do nothing more and that all I would have to do is enter a monastic life.

Absolutely not.

Quite often in some churches you are welcomed with open arms, kindly, without trying to change you into anything. But when you agree to validate this new birth and become a Christian, then they try by all means to change you and say: "Now you are a Christian, you must no longer dress in this way" or "you must no longer go to this place, it is not good" or "you must no longer speak that way" or "you must stop doing this or that".

Such words have driven many people away from the churches. Unfortunately, many pastors are in this pattern. But not all of them, fortunately. Because all these talks are ridiculous. This is again the result of a huge lack of knowledge of biblical teaching.

Here is what the apostle Paul says about this.

Romans 14: 23 ...For whatever does not originate and proceed from faith is sin [whatever is done without a conviction of its approval by God is sinful].

What does this word of Paul mean then?

THE GREAT DECEPTION

Just that when I go through the new birth, thus I become Christian, I enter a process. I got a new nature, the old one is dead, and it no longer exists. But some reflexes or habits remain. And it is here that begins my team with the Holy Spirit. Little by little, my priorities could change, my way of thinking also. This process will be more or less pronounced depending on the people. And I'll gently notice that I am a new person, but nothing should be done or forced in any way. This is exactly the same process of a child to an adult State.

It's a process too, yet I haven't had to struggle to adopt an adult attitude since I was a child, I haven't had to force myself or be frustrated in any way. It is exactly the same for entering into a life with God. No change must be made in me unless it is the result of a conviction. If you are sincere and honest and let yourself be loved by God, you will see that all this is only a daily pleasure.

There is no question of trying to act to satisfy God in any area. God desires only one thing, that you let yourself be loved by Him, and not the other way around. He just wants to love you, and loving Him back will give you a definite benefit. You see, God is perfect, He is totally balanced in His feelings, He is self-sufficient, He doesn't need to feel loved to be good. On the other hand, we humans need to feel loved for our balance, and that is what God wants to restore in us. He simply wants us to let himself be loved by Him.

This great deception that has kept you away from all this happiness so far is now being discovered.

And there are many other aspects of life with God that we have not discussed here. I would be happy to help you in your approach if you feel the need. There are many more of my Bible studies on different topics that can help you to better understand, and therefore live better.

I would also be very happy to hear about your progress and your testimony. Feel free to contact me using the same means by which you received this text.
